Brusselle Sprouts, Sweet Spuds, Ripe Tomatoes, Lettuce, Squash for your Sunday dinner at Campbell's.

The November 13th meeting will be at the home of Mrs. R. D. Farries. Bull call "Books we Should Read." Mrs. Baker has arranged a delightful program.

That Halloween fun does not pay has been found out by several boys around town. The boys wilfully damaged a sidewalk and were called upon to pay for the repairing of the same.

Quite a number of Champions took advantage of the excursion fares to Lethbridge last week end. Among them were Alex Latiff, Mr. and Mrs. A. Melquist and Miss Audrey Gundersen.

Did you ever hear of a snow plow on the track in summer? No! well that is what happened on Monday night after the terrific dust storm in the afternoon. The cuts south of Carmangay were filled 15 feet deep with Russian thistles and the snow plow had to be called in to clean the track, delaying the train an hour and a half.

Record Crowds

Attend Dance and Show Wednesday

All roads led to Champion on Wednesday night, record crowds attending the two big attractions on that night. The picture show showing to a packed house, and after the show, the Hopkins orchestra dance at the Community Hall was a huge success, over 350 people dancing and listening to this wonderful music.

These community hall dances are becoming very popular and the next dance on Friday Nov. 16th, with Patey's dance band from Lethbridge, will no doubt be a wonderful drawing card as well.

Local & General

The special Evangelistic services being held in Campbell's hall will continue each night this week at 8 p.m. There will be visitors from Calgary and Lethbridge Friday night. The subject on Sunday night will be "Is the World nearing a Crisis?"

The dance held at Yale school on Friday, November 2nd was a decided success. Singing at midnight was a feature of the evening. Young and old enjoyed music by the Baldwin orchestra of Carmangay, and tripped the light fantastic until the wee small hours.

J. T. Stephenson has been appointed enumerator for township 15 for election next year. The preliminary voters list is on display in U. S. Alexander's office. Anyone whose name does not appear on the list see Mr. Stephenson at U. S. Alexander's office on the 14, 15 or 16 of this month.

H. J. Higgins is contemplating another trip to Falun, Alta. in the north country, to visit his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. Vordays. Mr. Higgins is very much taken up with the north and thinks in a few years it will be the best part of Alberta.

Jack Doyle is building a 2000 bushel granary behind his home in town. He is going to store his wheat there and thinks it will be much safer than on the farm with no one around. S. A. Millin assisted by Jack Taylor is in charge of the construction.

The Evangelistic meetings being held every night except Wednesday in Campbell's hall have been well attended. Rev. Hustin is a very fluent speaker and illustrator.

Credit must be given to H. E. Gill for the way in which dances have been handled at the Community hall this year. There have been quite a number of dances but there has not been a failure yet. Much credit must go to Mr. Gill for his foresight and good judgement in procuring the best of music.

An Early Pioneer

James McKernan Was Third Man To Join The Mounted Police In 1878
Third man to join the old Royal North West Mounted Police when it was formed in Ottawa in the early 70's, James McKernan, 83, died at Edmonton recently.

Mr. McKernan came west in 1873 and was stationed first at Fort Macleod in the territory now in southern Alberta. On October 13 last while thumbing through his father-bound diary the old-timer came across this entry written 60 years ago: "Mounted guard for the first time at Fort Macleod today—home, sweet, home."

He settled near old Fort Edmonton in 1882 and in 1885 Mrs. McKernan and their four-year-old child took refuge behind the palisades of the fort then fearing Indian attacks in the rebellion, while Mr. McKernan rode patrol duty 50 miles south to warn settlers that the Indians might attack.

He was born in Richmond, Ont.

Criticism Often Unjust

The Ottawa Journal says most of us are quick to criticize the police. And our criticism is often unjust. For the miracle of police work, as it is organized today, is not, that so many criminals escape, but that so many are apprehended. The public takes note of the few failures; it forgets the thousands of cases where the police succeed.

Russia's Giant Gun

"Big Lenin" Made By Creators Of Germany's "Big Bertha"

"Barthelme" of a new gun named Big Lenin, which has a range of twenty-three miles, have been mounted by the Russians at Vladivostok.

It is claimed that this weapon outranged by seven miles the heaviest armament in Japan's capital ships.

A mobile battery mounted on trucks can be moved to different points on the railway.

The gun is forty-two feet long and has a special cooling apparatus which enables rapid fire without overheating.

The size of the projectile and the explosives used are carefully guarded secrets.

The gun is the work of German experts, some of whom were responsible for the creation of "Big Bertha," the weapon used to shell Paris at seventy-six miles' range.

FALSE TEETH

SOURD ON THE WORLD?—THAT'S LIVER

Wake up your Liver! No Colic necessary. Many people who feel sour, sluggish and tired, and who have indigestion, flatulence, and other liver troubles, are told to "keep the bowels and stomach free."

But the liver is the most important organ in the body. It is the liver that filters the blood, and it is the liver that stores the food. If the liver is not working properly, the whole body suffers.

See to Have No Limit

Japan Had First Plans For Invention of Atomic Bomb

Our good friends the Japanese appear to have no limits so far as inventive genius is concerned. They have apparently discovered the secret of applying it to the invention of anything that can possibly be manufactured in their own land.

They have given the world a new type of train pulled by a few rats! They have produced milk from a few cents! They have exported a few people for a few cents! Now they are shipping tens of thousands of spare automobile parts for a few cents apiece to Montreal!

Commercial aviation is one of the most important of the modern world's activities. Navigation is credited with the origin of using air-lift containers for army supplies, but the history of the industry is international. In 1809, in France, Francois Asprent found that foot put in air-lift containers required to be sterilized. As Asprent invented the tin can, and North America practically made canning the great industry it is today.

Shooting The Fog

Secret Chemical Makes Air Clear In Few Seconds

Lighting raids on fog are, overshadowed by a secret chemical which a trial was given recently. When a typical pen-soup specimen loomed up, engineers, having mounted their "guns," an array of centrifugal pipes suspended thirty feet horizontally above the ground fired streams of this liquid into its midst.

In a few seconds a clear path was traced in the gloom, and while the chemical attack lasted, every fog particle, as it came within range of 2,000 feet, was brought to earth in the form of water. It is anticipated that aerodromes will be among the first to install this new fog-clearing equipment. Already thousands of pounds are expended annually on special fog signals and guidance signs.

Learning To Fly Again

Colonel Bishop Is Making New Acquaintance With Controls

There is a pleasant time of surprise in the report that Colonel W. A. Bishop, the Canadian aviator who destroyed a large number of enemy aeroplanes during the war and was awarded the V.C., is now learning to fly at Montreal. Apparently the Colonel was one of those who returned from his victories more or less to his civilian form. It is said that he has not taken a machine into the air since 1922, and he feels that somebody had better be looking over his shoulder while he comes to terms with the controls again. ## Remarkable New Aid in Avoiding Colds Samples Free at Local Druggists

Every Family in This Locality Offered a Free Trial Of Vicks Vapo-rub For Nose and Throat—Also
Of Its Ideal Companion, Vicks VapoRub

RESULT OF RESEARCH

New Aid in Preventing Colds
Leads to Plan for Better Control of Colds

PLAN EASY TO FOLLOW

Years ago, Vicks VapoRub introduced the modern method of treating colds. Now, Vicks Chemists have developed the ideal companion to VapoRub—Vicks Vapo-rub—the new aid in preventing colds.

These two preparations, together with a few simple rules of health, form the unique Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. The helplessness of Vicks Plan in reducing the number, duration and danger of colds has been clinically tested by practicing physicians. (The Plan is fully explained in each Vicks package.) Here, briefly, is how Vicks Plan works:

To Help Prevent Colds

Watch yourself and avoid exposure to any condition apt to be followed by a cold—such as: Contact with others having active colds; colds, public places, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms—sudden changes in temperature, wet or cold, or unaccustomed exposure—cold water colds are well known; which lower resistance, such as over-eating, smoking, or drinking—after a hard day when you are over-tired.

Then, if you have that stuffy, sneezy, irritating in the nasal passages where most colds start, use Vicks Vapo-rub at once—just a few drops in each nostril. Used in time Vapo-rub helps to prevent many annoying colds, and to throw off colds in their early stages.

To Help Shorten a Cold

If a cold has developed or strikes without warning, apply Vicks Vapo-rub over throat and chest at bedtime. Through the skin, VapoRub acts direct like a poultice. At the same time, the medicated vapors are inhaled with every breath direct to the inflamed air-passages. This combined double action—use of the moist vapors—softens irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—relieves sore throat—breaks up colds.

During the day—any time, any Vicks Vapo-rub—use Vicks Vapo-rub every few hours as needed. This gives you full 24-hour treatment without the risks of constant inhalation, which so often causes the digestion—especially of children.

Trial Packages Free

Your druggist has free combination packages containing trial sizes of Vapo-rub and VapoRub—also folder telling how these twin aids to fever and colds—will battle colds and give you Plan for Better Control of Colds. Ask for yours today, as your druggist's supply is limited.

CHAPTER IV—Continued

Dustin swung about to face a gray little figure that stiffened at sight of him. Slim Peters had been cashier of the Soco Bank for more than thirty years. Scotch by descent and cautious by nature, only once had he ventured to extend his activities beyond the bank. He was like Kipling's muskrat that all his life tried to muster courage to run to the middle of the floor. Peters mustered that courage once . . . and Dustin caught him with a loan of five thousand dollars on his house. That loan saved Peters' bank job but it had had him the bond-slave of Sam Dustin.

"Just a moment, Peters. . . . Dustin drew him aside. . . . 'How much money does old man Carr owe the bank?' I've got to know."

"The bank?" Peters quavered. "He don't owe the bank at all, Mr. Dustin. He did owe the bank but old man Pegram took it up. It's a note and Mr. Pegram's wonderin' right now what to do with it. He's lost a lot of money and needs cash. . . .

"How much is the note for?"

"Well . . . Old Carr hasn't paid any interest on it for a year. It's about twelve thousand dollars right now. And I tell you more, . . .

Old man Pegram better get to go all bolts on it just as soon as he can. Old Carr's in a bad way."

"I've got a five thousand dollar note of yours," he said. "It's secured by his house and lot, eh?"

"Yes, sir. That's so. . . . 'Something hard in his throat seemed to choke the little gray cashier."

"That note of yours is due next week. I want that note of Carr's that Pegram got. See?"

"I . . . sir . . . I swear I don't see how I can fix it. It's Mr. Pegram's private business. I . . ."

"More than ever did Slim Peters regret that accused flyer in wheat that was to remove him and his old wife from any danger of poverty. He made out a way to wriggle for escape."

"As matters stand, I don't see how it can help you to own a half share of the Hour-glass ranch," he said.

"Half of it? I want a plain loaf, Peters. I'll own the whole place; Soda Springs and all," he added. "Old man Carr owns the Hour-glass, don't he?"

"He owns half of it," said Peters. "That's all. When old man Pegram died, he left the Hour-glass half to Joe Carr, his old partner, and half to his sister's son, one Gerald Keene. When Carr wanted to borrow on his half of the place, we had to look up the will. That's how I know I saw the will. It says that if either Carr or Keene dies, his half goes to the survivor. . . ."

"For the love of God! . . . Dustin was breathless. . . . 'Say that again."

"Peters said it again and Dustin, sure that he had not misheard, let go a smoke-screen of profanity. It was not the jovial profanity of good-nature but the vitriolic overflow of one who fears he has been hurt and who is not sure of the extent of the injury. In one brief kaleidoscopic moment the future of his plans seemed sure. If Gerald Keene, the nephew of old Peter Vinton, owned half the Hour-glass then he, Sam Dustin, even if he succeeded in cutting Joe Carr, was only getting a new partner whom he did not even know."

He sized old Peters and whistled him about in the moonlight to face him. There was but one thing to be done. Too much depended on what old Keene knew! That miserable old desert-rat could send him and Spike to jail for a half a lifetime and Joe Carr could keep him out of a fortune. "If you want to keep a roof over your own wife's head," he snarled, "you buy up for me every scrap of paper that old Carr has signed. I want to own the half-share of the Hour-glass. Get me?"

Peters gaped helplessly at him. "I mean what I say, you old fool. Where can I find this man Gerald Keene? The man who owns the other half of the Hour-glass?"

"I don't know, Mr. Dustin. I swear I don't. Nobody knows. Even Mr. Carr don't know. He's been tryin' to find him through Mr. Burley of the Dryers Bank in Cato but he wrote us that he was back here."

"Keene's business and that Mr. Keene was travelling somewhere and couldn't be reached just now."

Dustin granted disbelief but he could do nothing at present. He had plenty of money in the bank and Peters knew it. "There was no question of the validity of the check that Dustin wrote at the hotel desk and passed to the gray-faced little cashier who took it shakily. He pounced it, refused a sign and headed for the bank feeling like a condemned criminal who has received notice of an unexpected reprieve."

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen near to a half-acre in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur has been exterminated looking the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

But Keene decided to go on as what was happening for himself—not as Gerald Keene, half owner of the Hour-Glass Ranch, but as Doro Steno, tenderfoot in a Montgomery Ward without out a cent.

Dad Kane, desert rat and buckskin promoter for the now, is returning to Dustin and Spike Gokford, owners of the Broken Spur ranch who had grubbed him, and the discovery of a rich old mine and shows samples of it. He sees Broken Spur men rustling Hour-glass cattle and protests against it.

Spike Gokford and Sam Dustin, fearing the old prospector may tell others the things he has seen as to the branding of Carr's cattle, plot to the branding of Carr's cattle, plot to without the neighbors knowing it

Wrap it in Canapar cookery parchment. Seal in the aroma, flavor and goodness all at once. Cook your boiled or steamed FISH in Canapar. Line your roasting pan with it. It prevents fats and juices from burning and makes the meat more tender.

Canapar saves fuel . . . improves food . . . and eliminates scraping and scouring of pots and pans. You can use Canapar over and over again. It will not absorb odors. It makes a wonderful dish cloth, being silky and very tough when wet. Doesn't shed lint.

Local & General

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Clapp and Mrs. J. T. Stephenson were Lethbridge visitors on Tuesday

Frank Ash, son of Tony Ash, who has been harvesting in the district left recently for his home in Lansing, Mich.

Paul Diemert who is attending school at Brant is spending the week end at his home.

Mr. Burleigh, who has been assisting at McCulloughs during the sale, left on Monday for Calgary.

J. M. Moffatt motored to Lethbridge on Saturday, Accompanying him were Mrs. Mc-Moffatt, Mrs. C. McLean, Miss Elsie McLean, Mrs. Orr and Miss Edna Orr.

The C. W. L. are holding their annual supper and bazaar on Saturday, November 24th.

Have your turkeys, chickens etc. ready for the two big poultry days at the Meat Market on December 3rd and 4th. Watch for further advertising.

Plans are being drawn up for a big New Year's Ball this year.
 As Dec 31st comes on Monday a gala event is being looked forward to. The Royal Purple will be in charge and music will be furnished by the Rhythm Vendors.

Alston hall sponsored a dance last Friday and entertained a good crowd. Quite a number from Champion attended.
 Music was furnished by Lind's four piece orchestra from Nanton.

A very enjoyable evening was spent on Wednesday, Oct.
 31st, at a Halloween bridge.
 Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Clever and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Watkins were joint hostesses. Six tables were in play. Honors were won by Mrs. C. Luchin and W.
 A. McIntyre. Low score was taken by Mrs. A. W. Jopling and J. M. Moffatt.

Champion shows signs of coming out of the depression this fall. Of course we are by no means out of the woods yet but still the future looks brighter. Saturday nights are giving up their old glamour again with many cars parked on the street. The shows and dances and other forms of entertainment are being well patronized. The mines are being rushed with business and more miners are being employed. Almost any want can be purchased in town at city prices. If these are not signs of prosperity, what are?
